CLARK SPEAKS IN AUDRAIN.

A Republican Minister Who Opposed Mr. Clark Was Not Up on History—Written and Spoke.

CENTRALIA, Mo., September 2.—If things continue to run in the "Bloody Ninth" as they are running now, by November Clark Clark will have little opposition. The gold standard Republicans are anxious to find somebody who can beat him, and are meeting with very poor success. They say he is on him continually, and invariably retire them to the stable after one heat.

After Judge Wind got his jacket dusted at Ellsbury, General Thomas, of Illinois, came into Clark's district and literally ran away from the money issue, leaving the field to Clark. Not satisfied with that, he came to-day at a picnic in Audrain, north of Centralia, they brought up Rev. Mr. Bassford, a Northern Methodist preacher from Wellville, late of South Dakota, and one T. A. Witten, a gold Democrat from Kansas City. B. O. Sims, Populist candidate for Congress, also was on hand.

There was a great crowd and it was a great day for Clark and true Democracy. Written spoke an hour, then Sims half an hour, then Rev. Bassford an hour, and Clark wound up in a two hour address full of logic, sarcasm, and his own reference to the Populists was the statement that if the Populists were honestly in favor of what they claimed to be they would all vote for him, and that he believed they were honest and would not waste their votes this year.

Then he went on to Witten and Bassford. The latter had discussed the tariff, which seems to be the settled policy of Republicans in Missouri. Bassford's information on the subject appeared to be small. He made this astounding assertion:

"The Morrill tariff bill was signed by the last Democratic President prior to Grover Cleveland."

Clark did not believe he had heard the preacher right, and he quietly inquired:

"Mr. Bassford, did I understand you to say that James Buchanan signed the Morrill tariff bill? I want to understand you correctly."

"Yes," said the Dakota parson; "that's what I said."

Clark's face broke into a broad smile, the Democrats chuckled and the Republicans realized that another champion of high protection was in the hole. Bassford then sank wearily into his chair and Clark began thus:

"The Morrill tariff bill was passed many months after James Buchanan's term expired, as a temporary war measure, and was signed by Abraham Lincoln in the name of the president. Nobody then had the nerve to claim that it was the permanent policy of the Government. If my revered brother does not know more about the tariff than about history, he's in a bad fix. If he doesn't look out the devil will get some of his parishioners while he is trying to keep Prof. Treloar out of my clutches."

He then summed up the tariff question in a few vigorous sentences, and went directly into the financial question, which he discussed in every phase. Perhaps the most interesting portion of his speech was his defense of the Chicago platform's criticism of the Supreme Court's income tax decision. He declared it to be the unalienable right of an American citizen to criticize any public official for any act, and that five judges richly deserved criticism for that outrageous performance.

Reports from Audrain are that Bryan and Clark will carry the county by 2,000 majority, and the district by defeating 4,000 and 5,000. Treloar's skulking in the bushes and sending all sorts of substitutes to meet Clark is losing him the respect of decent and fair-minded Republicans.

THE VANDALIA PICNIC.

One of the Largest Attended and Most Successful Gatherings of the Year.

The annual picnic held in Vandalia on Thursday, September 3, was largely attended by people not only in Audrain but from adjoining counties. The picnic was nonpartisan and every citizen in the town was interested in its success. The barbecued dinner was ample and all present had plenty to eat and went away well pleased with Vandalia and the reception tendered them by the hospitable citizens of that town. Quite a number of speeches were made and prizes offered. The fire works at night was a most creditable display. The crowd was estimated all the way from seven to twelve thousand people. It seemed to the editor of the LEDGER as though everybody was there. The business men and citizens of Vandalia are to be congratulated on the success of their 1896 picnic.

Gentry is the Champion. NEW YORK, September 3.—At Fleetwood Park to-day William Simpson's pacing stallion, John R. Gentry, defeated Robert J. Frank Agan and Star Pointer in the fastest harness race on record, the gallant little son of Ashland Wilkes stepping the first heat in 2:03 1/2, the second in 2:03 1/2, and the third in 2:03 1/2. All the finishes were very close and exciting. John R. Gentry is owned in New York.

Dragged Half a Mile. CENTRALIA, Mo., September 2.—Odie Lohr, a young farmer, was returning from work to-day, riding a horse with harness on. The horse became frightened at a road grader and ran away, throwing Lohr, whose feet became entangled in the harness, and he was dragged half a mile. When found he was unconscious. He will die.

Employment for All. From the Brands (Cal.) Post. Wanted, 500 smart Aloeks to stand on the sidewalks and talk politics. Applicants must have strong voices, be well posted on the money question, be able to spit tobacco juice over the sidewalks and see that no lady has an opportunity to pass without going in the middle of the road. Apply to W. W. Hill, City Marshal of Nevada.

BRYAN AT HIS BEST.

Scathing Denunciation of the Gold Standard—"It Carries the Burden of the Nation's Sin."

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 1.—The well-known W. J. Bryan in Cleveland was unopposed in his campaign tour from New York to his home in Nebraska.

From the time he reached the city until he had said good-by to his last audience Mr. Bryan was given one continuous round of emotional welcoming.

It is claimed that 7,000 people came from Canton, the home of Maj. McKinley. Many other Bryan and Sewing clubs came from towns in Ohio and Pennsylvania. Ten thousand people had gathered in and about the Lake Shore station, to wait the arrival of the nominee's train, and when it arrived they shouted with a vim that showed their earnestness.

An open carriage, drawn by four white horses, was in waiting for Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, and in this they were conveyed through the streets crowded with cheering people to the hotel.

A national salute was fired by Battalion A, Ohio National Guard, as the train came in and fireworks were displayed all along the route to the hotel.

Mr. Bryan made three speeches—two before the throngs of people gathered in the hall of his hotel. The halls were packed and the street about the hotel a perfect jam of humanity.

KNIFE OF THE ASSASSIN. In his first address Mr. Bryan was more aggressive than has been his custom. "The gold standard," he declared, "never brought an end to all its career. It carries the mark of the burglar and the knife of the assassin. When it was fastened upon this country in 1873 the American people had never discussed it, and no party had ever gone before the people trying to sell the measure that seemed toward a gold standard. Every step has been taken at night and without the knowledge or consent of the people."

"Why did not the Republican National Convention denounce the financial policy of the Democratic party? Why did it not demand the abandonment of the gold standard and the restoration of the gold and silver coinage of the Constitution? Because their convention was dominated by the same influences that have dominated the controlling affairs of both great parties. The financiers of New York wrote the Republican platform."

THE CLINK OF GOLD. "The laborers of this country, the farmers of this country, were looking and longing for relief, but the Republican party was deaf to all sounds save the clinking of gold, and blind to all colors but the green of yellow metal. (Tremendous applause.) It wrote its platform. Did it say that the gold standard was good? In the presence of the misery that it was wrought, even the Republican party, with all its audacity, did not dare to advocate a gold standard."

THE GORDEL OF DESPAIR. "If you can not excite pity in the minds of that party in this country which you yourselves have made great, how can you expect pity from the nations from whom you have wrested an empire? Our opponents threaten the going to despair. There is no hope, no promise, no prospect. They ask you to enter upon a night illuminated by no star, to embark upon a sea whose further shore no mariner may find, to travel upon a desert where the oasis when reached is only a mirage, a disappointment, a thousand times more keen."

"We have not finished the gold standard yet. You think you have suffered. Our suffering has just begun if we have a constitution of the gold standard. We are but upon a threshold of a period of depression which is indefinite in duration and cannot be described in intensity."

A GLOOMY PICTURE. "Wait until these influences, wait until these heartless, merciless influences have driven silver from here, and they will turn to other nations. They say they have driven silver from India, and 250,000,000 people reach out after their share of the world's supply of gold. Wait until they have driven silver from China and 300,000,000 of people will reach out after their share of the world's supply of gold; wait until they have driven silver from Japan to the gold standard, and then you will put gold on an auction block, and every toiler under the sun will bow to it, and work a little harder to get a little less of the yellow metal. And at those bidding do you destroy silver? At the bidding of the farmers of the world? The farmers have never asked for the crucifixion of silver. At the bidding of the laborers of the world? The laborers of the world have never demanded the death of white metal. Who has determined this? The money changers, whom the Savior drove out of the temple."

H. A. Forgy, of this city, has ordered a $1,500 horseless carriage, which will arrive here next week.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 2.—George W. Hobbs, manager of the Democratic Campaign Bureau here, states that the demand for silver interest is much greater than the supply, and that he cannot get enough to meet the demands for it. Senator Teller's and Congressman Towne's speeches are asked for more than any others. Leading Democrats all over the State are writing for literature and stating that free silver clubs are being organized, in each of which there are from six to twenty Republican members.

BRYAN IN MISSOURI. He will speak at St. Louis on Saturday, Sept. 12.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 2.—The Democratic campaign here is in full swing. Mr. Bryan will be here and Senator Blackburn has been asked by Gov. Stone to attend. He has not replied as yet. Gov. Stone to-day received the following from Mr. Bryan at Columbus, Mo.:

"Will speak at St. Louis on Saturday, Sept. 12. Cannot speak at Kansas City on that trip."

The Governor, however, states that Mr. Bryan will speak at Kansas City at a later date.

R. T. Carter and wife are home from a six weeks' trip in the West. Among other places they visited Colorado Springs, Denver and Salt Lake City.

The Laddons (Mo.) Herald places the loss by the late fire in Laddonia at $12,000. Insurance very light.

babies with skins on fire

From babies and herons and other skin and scalp tortures. You can't imagine how these little creatures suffer. To know that a warm bath with Castoria Soap, and a single skin cure, will in the majority of cases afford relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a happy cure, and that you can do so without a moment's delay is to fall in our day.
